

MANY LIVES LOST IN A MINE EXPLOSION

MAY BE CASE OF MURDER.

Unknown Man Found With Head Badly Fractured.

He Was Lying in a Stall at Gas Company's Stable.

An unknown man was found about 5 o'clock this morning, terribly kicked, in the stables of the Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company at First and Jefferson streets. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital in the Police Patrol where Drs. Stratton, Kane and Kelly made an examination of the man's injuries and found that he had a fracture at the base of the skull and held out little hope for his recovery.

According to the statement made by the night watchman at the stables he found the man lying in one of the stalls with the gashes in the head and rang up the police station and asked for an ambulance. The watchman went off duty shortly afterwards and the police have not yet ascertained his name.

How the man came by his injuries is a matter of speculation. The wounds were confined to the head and were on the right side and towards the base. He is in an unconscious condition and has not spoken a word since being taken to the hospital.

There was nothing in his pockets by which identification was possible. He looks like a workman about 45 years of age and it is supposed that he went into the stables with an idea of finding a place to sleep and was kicked in going behind the horses. The night watchman said that the man was not there when he made his rounds at four o'clock but when he went around again at five o'clock he discovered him.

The doctors express some surprise at the cleanliness of the wounds and were somewhat skeptical as to a horse's hoof having made them. The head was not smashed in, but they admitted that struck with the angle of an iron shoe at the proper distance such wounds would have resulted.

SMALL FIRE CAUSES ALARM.

CHICAGO, January 25.—A small fire in the Garrick theatre which was on the first floor of the Schiller building, a sky-scraper, caused considerable excitement among the tenants to-day. No one was in the theatre and the nervousness of the people in the building, who were susceptible to panic, owing to the Iroquois disaster and the panic in the Masonic Temple Saturday, was quickly allayed.

TONOPAH ROAD.

TONOPAH, Nev., January 25.—Work began today on the Tonopah and Rhodes railway at two points on the road. Material for the work is arriving steadily at Sodaville on the Carson and Colorado railroad and unless unforeseen delays occur the road, which is to be 63 miles long, will be in operation to Tonopah by May 15.

THEY ARE HELD ON PERJURY CHARGE

Men Accused of Swindling Government Must Stand Trial.

HELENA, Mont., January 25.—Judge James H. Beatty of Idaho, who heard the pleas of abatement in the perjury and subornation of perjury growing out of alleged frauds in timber and stone lands in Western Montana, has sent to the clerk of the United States Court here his decision in the case, in which the pleas are overruled.

The opinion in the case of the United States against R. M. Cobban, charged with subornation of perjury, but by stipulation of counsel the decision holds as to all perjury and subornation of perjury cases.

There are twelve indictments against Cobban for perjury; five against John E. Catlin for subornation of perjury; also one for perjury and one each against thirty-eight other residents of Western Montana. They were indicted about two years ago, it being alleged that they had committed perjury in proving upon timber lands entries which were afterwards transferred to Cobban and by him transferred to United States Senator Clark. An action was brought by the government against Senator Clark to vacate his titles to the lands, but Judge Knowles decided in favor of the defendant and the government has appealed the case.

KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Over a Hundred Miners Lose Their Lives in East.

Brave Men Go to the Rescue But Accomplish Little.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 25.—Between 125 and 150 men were entombed today by an explosion in the shaft of the Hardwick Coal Company near Cheswick. None of them had been rescued at noon and it is believed that many of them were either killed outright by the explosion or suffocated by the gas. Several hundred men are at work trying to liberate the men imprisoned inside. About 200 men are employed in the mine, 150 working inside and the remainder on the tipple. The men on the tipple were badly burned by the explosion. With a loud report and an upheaval like an earthquake, the woodwork of the tipple was destroyed. The walls of the shaft were filled with debris, rocks and earth, completely shutting off all means of escape for those in the mine.

Whether the explosion occurred at the far extremity of the mine and killed the men by the concussion or whether it occurred nearer the shaft and imprisoned the men is not known. There have been no means as yet of finding the exact nature of the disaster or the number of men killed. If the mine entrance cannot be cleaned out so that the men can get fresh air all will have been perished in the course of a few hours.

With the knowledge that scores of lives depended on prompt action of the laborers at the mouth of the mine, an excited gang of men was working with night and main. Help was summoned from all available sources and as many men as are assisting in the work of rescuers as can conveniently work there.

Half a dozen men on the tipple were caught in the pit and a number were seriously injured. One man, it is thought, cannot recover. The other men employed on the tipple were working farther away from the shaft and escaped uninjured.

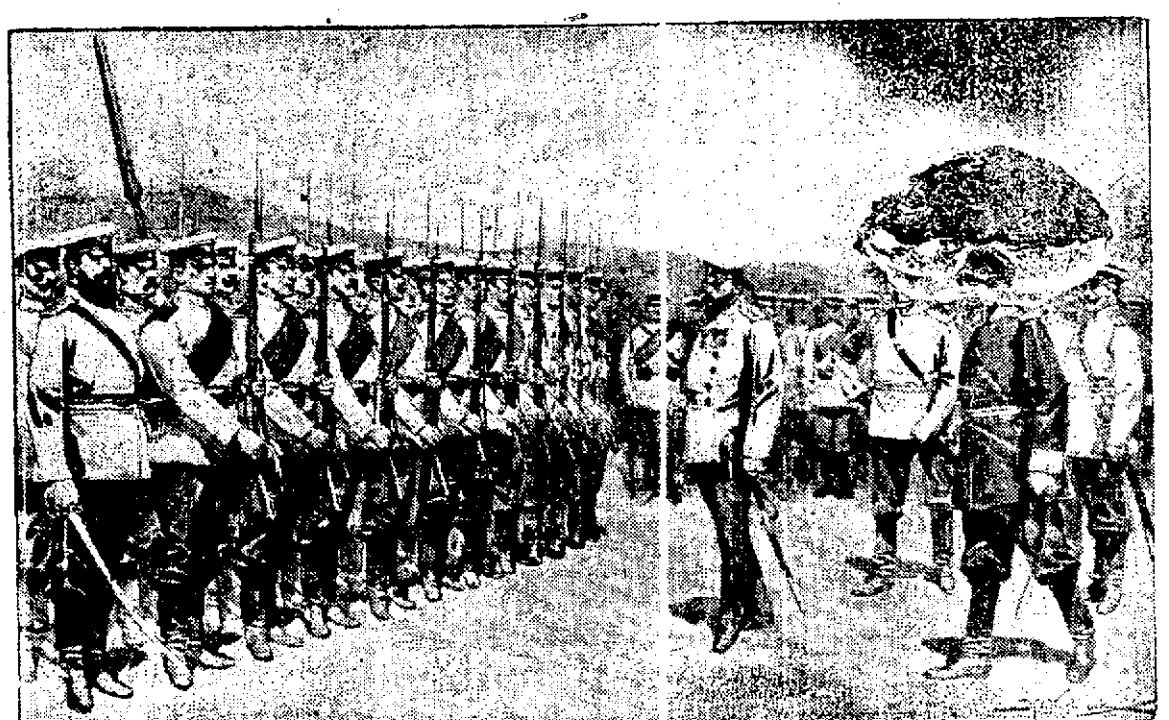

Superintendent George Sheets, as soon as he heard of the accident, telephoned to Cheswick and Springfield for assistance. Gangs of workmen were sent in response and physicians have rushed to the scene to take care of the injured. The mine is about a mile from Cheswick and was opened about two years ago. The company is allied with the Allegheny Coal Company and it is said was operated by Cleveland capitalists. The mine, it is stated, has always been a gaseous one, but there has never been any serious trouble there before today.

Before the miners went to work this morning Fire Boss Gordon went into the mine and made his usual inspection. He reported that everything was all right. One hundred and fifty safety lamps were taken out this morning, so it is known that there were that number of miners in the mine. The fire boss and mine foremen are also in the mine, Gordon having returned into the mine after the men had begun working.

WORLD AWAITS RUSSIA'S ANSWER.

ADMIRAL ALEXEIEFF REVIEWING TROOPS AT PORT ARTHUR.

BERLIN, January 25.—As the German government understands the present situation, the feeling is such at Tokio that Japan will declare war unless Russia answers her demands favorably. Russia recognizes this and accordingly intends to accept enough of Japan's points to make the Tokio cabinet feel that a sufficient cause for war no longer exists and while the forthcoming note will not fully satisfy Japan, it will prevent the serious possibility of a declaration of war.

RUSSIANS NOT HOSTILE.

PORT ARTHUR, January 25.—The highest officials here repudiate the published accusations of Russian hostility to the United States because of its Manchurian policy and the appointment of American consuls under the new treaty with China.

It is officially asserted that no large reinforcement of the Eastern forces is expected at present. The military authorities however, add that otherwise arrangements are making for a large supply of ponies from the province of Chi Li for the Cossacks and mounted infantry.

The demoralization of the passenger and freight traffic on the Manchuria railway continues in consequence of military activity and there is a great blockade of freight at Port Dalny.

MERCHANTS WARNED.

MANILA, January 25.—The Japanese merchants in this city have received advices from the home government that in case of the outbreak of hostilities they had better transfer their business over to the Americans.

THERE IS MUCH TENSION.

PARIS, January 25.—Considerable tension is observable in governmental quarters concerning the Russo-Japanese situation. This is due principally to the fact that the effort toward a pacific adjustment have not made the progress which the official hoped and expected. The general view of those highest in authority is summed up in the statement that negotiations have now reached a point where practically no progress is occurring in any direction. Whether this means that Russia's latest answer does not make concessions which are likely to bring about a settlement, it is impossible to say, as the delicate stage of the negotiations prompts the officials to withhold precise details. The only statement is that the negotiations are at a standstill. It appears that one of the most difficult features is the mutual distrust and hatred which has grown up between the parties.

It is stated that every statement of the present exchanges develops Japan's suspicion of Russia's good faith, and Russia's antipathy to Japan. Owing to this bitterness, diplomatic efforts to secure a middle ground are proving unusually difficult. It is understood that Russia is now seeking to secure the neutralization of the strait of Korea. The Russian view, as made known here, is that Japan's fortification of Misampo and Fusan constitutes a menace to the world's commerce, since it gives Japan control over the narrow strait. It is pointed out in support of this view that Japan already has a strongly fortified island, Tsu Shima, in the middle of the strait and that this is distant fifty miles from Misampo and Fusan, so that the fortification of the latter point will constitute another Gibraltar. The straits of Korea is claimed to be a vital outlet for the commerce of northwest China, and it is therefore asserted that it would be in the interest of Europe and America to secure the neutralization of the strait.

CHINESE ON DECK.

ST. PETERSBURG, January 25.—A dispatch from Port Arthur says that according to a Chinese native paper, General Ma, with twenty regiments of Chinese troops, has proceeded from Shan Hai Kwan, Chi Li province, in order to occupy strategic points on the border of that province.

In November General Ma was quoted as saying that in the event of war he would join his forces with those of Japan.

He had Secretary Root's statement before the committee read, in which he advocated the appropriation as a political but not military necessity.

Mr. Hull said the word "political" was not used in a party sense.

Mr. Slayden assented, but patriotism could be developed in the Porto Ricans through civic advantages rather than military services.

Mr. May of Virginia said that the Porto Ricans enlisted in the regiment had done so for a term of years and to cut off the appropriation would be a violation of the contract with them on the part of this government.

FORMER MORMON NAMED.

President Will See That He Gets Position in Mint.

Says Charges Made By Editors Are Not Sustained.

WASHINGTON, January 25.—On recommendation of Senator Heyburn of Idaho, the President appointed H. Smith Woolley, a former Bishop of the Mormon church, to be assayer of the Mint at Boise City, Idaho. Woolley's appointment has caused considerable political gossip.

At a conference at the White House today, to which the President, Secretary Shaw and Senator Heyburn were present the matter was settled.

Charges were made against Woolley by two Boise City editors.

They were investigated by a committee from the Treasury Department. The committee's findings were placed before the President. No recommendations were made by the committee, but it is said the charges practically were sustained.

Semi-official announcement was made that Woolley would not be re-appointed, but after careful consideration of the matter the President decided to make the appointment, and so informed Senator Heyburn today.

The President held that it seemed evident that the charges made against Woolley were due to present bias.

HE TELLS A WEIRD STORY.

James Kerrigan Says He Was Kidnaped and Robbed.

Declares He Was Dropped Through a Trap Door.

What a weird and uncanny were the experiences of John Kerrigan of the Acheson Hotel, Berkeley, on Saturday night last if the story he told Chief of Police Hodgkins today be true. The features of Mr. Kerrigan's recital are being arrested by two thug-like men representing themselves to be policemen, being dropped through a trap-door into a dark basement, where he was locked up and then a fierce struggle in which he was relieved of $14 and a watch.

HE WAS KIDNAPED.

All of these things are said to have occurred at Twenty-eighth and San Pablo avenue. The victim of the alleged outrage is not certain just where the kidnapping took place, but he is certain that he was forced into a dark cellar where he had to fight his way to freedom. The police are puzzled over the case and Detective Sherry and Holland are working on it.

TELLS HIS STORY.

This is the story that Kerrigan tells of his midnight adventure:

"I had been in Oakland during the earlier part of the evening and had taken several drinks. At 11:30 o'clock I took a car for Berkeley. It did not run all the way through. When it stopped I walked back up till I came to Twenty-eighth street. I went into a saloon where I owed a dollar and bought a drink. I started back to take another car, but was followed by two men who said they were officers.

"We will have to run you in," said one of them, "men, you are drunk."

FORCED TO GO.

"They forced me to go along with them although I struggled to free myself; they forced me into an empty house. When they got me into one of the rooms, the door suddenly gave way and I dropped six or eight feet. When I came to myself I was in a basement which was as dark as midnight. After being groping around to see if I could get out the two fellows who arrested me came back. They made for me and I grappled with them. They were much stronger than I, and succeeded in throwing me down. Something was shoved into my mouth to prevent me from calling for help. They then went through my pockets getting $14 and a watch.

HE WAS SEARCHED.

"After I had been thoroughly searched the two men let themselves out by a door which they left open. I followed as quickly as I could but do not know which way they went."

WIDOW IS FOUND DEAD.

THOUGHT TO HAVE TAKEN LIFE AT HOME OF WILLIAM DEANE.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 25.—Mrs. Lavina Johnson, an aged widow who resided at Lawrence, Santa Clara county, is thought to have committed suicide last night at the home of the former County Clerk William Deane. She was found dead in bed this morning with the gas escaping from two jets. Mr. Deane said that the unfortunate woman was an old friend of his family and was on a visit. She seemed to be in good spirits when she returned, but he knew that she was in financial difficulty and believes that she took her own life. She left no explanatory note.

Mrs. Johnson was the widow of the late Captain William R. Johnson of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

THIRTY BELOW AT ST. PAUL.

ST. PAUL, Minn., January 25.—Thirty degrees below zero was the official weather record today, although thermometers in various parts of the city registered from 2 to 3 degrees lower.

CHARGED WITH KILLING GIRL.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., January 25.—Joseph Heltigier, a prominent young man of Bedford, Ind., was arrested at that place today on the charge of complicity in the murder of Miss Sarah Schoener, the Latin teacher. He was brought to Jeffersonville penitentiary to avoid any possibility of mob violence.

HE WAS KILLED BY SHOCK.

SAW A DEAD MAN AND FAINTED AT THE SIGHT.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Jan. 25.—This morning Harry Chandler aged 21, died at San Jose as the result of a shock he received on Saturday afternoon near San Mateo when he saw the remains of a man who had been run over and killed by a train. He was taken ill in San Francisco, but his sickness was not serious, and he was on the way home. After the man was killed the train was stopped and the remains taken to the side of the track in front of a window which Chandler looked through. He fainted and was taken to San Jose but never regained consciousness. Chandler was formerly assistant city electrician here.

HAVE A THEORY FOR MURDER.

DETECTIVES TELL ABOUT THE KILLING OF PRETTY SCHOOL TEACHER.

BEDFORD, Indiana, Jan. 25.—Detectives at work on the mystery of the murder of Miss Sarah Shaefer, teacher of Latin in the Bedford schools, believe they have established a motive for the crime. The idea of the police is that the murderer, brooding over his passion for the young woman, had made up his mind to kill her if she again resented his advances, and that he lay in wait for her on the day of the murder.

SAFE ROBBER IN COURT.

MAN ACCUSED OF ROBBING WELLS, FARGO HAS A HEARING.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., January 25.—The preliminary hearing of the man under arrest on suspicion of having robbed Wells, Fargo & Co., by stealing a safe from the Sunset Limited train near San Ardo, began here today.

The prisoner appeared indifferent to the proceedings, and declined to give his name. He was, therefore, arraigned under the name of John Doe. Attorney F. A. Dorn appeared for the prosecution and A. E. Campbell for the defense. The hearing was brief and the case went over until tomorrow.

There is a theory here that a failure to identify the prisoner indicates that his purchase of a hat was merely a plan to divert the attention of the detectives from others who may have escaped.

PROMINENT KERN COUNTY MAN DEAD.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., January 25.—H. P. Bender, Secretary of the Kern Oil Company and proprietor of the largest mercantile firm in Kern county and for twenty-five years a resident of Bakersfield and well-known throughout the State, died at his residence in this city last evening of typhoid fever. The deceased was a native of New York and 44 years of age. He leaves a wife and six children.

MOROS FIRE ON OFFICER

LIEUTENANT FLAKE KILLED BY TREACHEROUS FILIPINOS.

MANILA, January 25.—It has just been learned here that Lieutenant Campbell W. Flake of the Twenty-second Infantry was killed while trying to enter Moro Cotta, in Mindanao, for the purpose of examining the locality, accompanied by Private Foy of the same regiment. He was shot treacherously, the Moros firing on the party while Major Bullard was parlaying with them. Moro Cotta was at once taken by assault with no further loss to the expeditionary forces. The estimated loss among the Moros is twenty killed.

CASHIER ROBS BANK OF $100,000.

He is Arrested and Held to Answer Before the Grand Jury.

NASHUA, N. H., January 25.—John P. Coggin, treasurer of the Nashua Trust Company, was arrested today, charged with embezzling from the bank between $80,000 and $100,000.

The Nashua Trust Company did not open its doors today and the institution is in charge of the State Bank Commissioners pending a further examination.

Coggin was held in $10,000 bonds for the grand jury.

He made no statement but it was said that his downfall was not due to speculation, but to his having given assistance from time to time to a friend. Coggin is one of the most prominent bank officials in New Hampshire. He came here from the West about ten years ago and in a short time he was made treasurer of the trust company. He is about 40 years of age and has a family.

In banking circles here the opinion was held today that the defalcation would not result in the permanent closing of the company. The company has a capital of $150,000 and usually carries deposits running in amount from $500,000 to $650,000 in the savings department. The bank also had a check deposit department, the deposits in which will swell the total carried by the bank to about $1,000,000.

LOCAL SALVATION CHIEFS TO TRY RESCUE SINNERS IN CHICAGO.

Last night brought to a close several years of active work here in the cause of salvation of Adjutant and Mrs. E. L. Hawkes, Adjutant Hudspeeth and Lieutenant Rogers, who are now at the Salvation Army castle on Ninth street, between Washington and Clay streets. The officers will leave today for Chicago, where they will assume charge of Corps No. 1, Salvation Army, in Princess Rink, which is, in many ways, the most prominent corps in the army. They will be succeeded here by Adjutant and Mrs. Storey, who come from the corps to which the Oakland people have been ordered. The years of Adjutant and Mrs. Hawkes in this city have been full of activity, earnest endeavor and successful results. It was they who raised nearly $11,000 with which the present castle was erected and furnished. All of the sum collected save $4.32 has been expended. They leave a building practically out of debt and a corps of 151 members. They have at the same time conducted here the training headquarters of the Salvation Army for the Pacific Coast and have sent into the field thirty-five officers. The united service as officers of Adjutant and Mrs. Hawkes covers a period of twenty years. The new officers to succeed the departing ones will arrive here January 31st and, on the following Saturday, a welcome meeting will be held in their honor.

NEWS NOTES OF HE WILL SPEAK AT Y. M. C. A. JUBILEE. THE UNIONS.

ROYAL ARCH LODGE WILL EXCLUDE BARTENDERS IN FUTURE.

The questions in dispute between the local liquor dealers and the Bartenders' Union are being adjusted by a temporary organization on the part of the former, but hereafter similar disputes, if they shall arise, will be settled by the Knights of the Royal Arch.

The latter organization has a lodge in this city and when the lodge was instituted, all dealers in liquor and their employees were eligible to membership. As a consequence, about twenty bartenders enrolled. That number has now dwindled to about six in a total membership of 244.

Inside of a month, say some of the liquor dealer knights, the by-laws will be radically changed excluding bartenders and limiting the membership in the local lodge to wholesale and retail dealers in liquor, brewers and distillers.

The liquor dealers say the proposed change has been deemed advisable so as to make the lodge distinctive in character from that of the Bartenders' Union, so that when a dispute arises between liquor dealers and their employees, members may not be called to vote in deciding the point at issue in two conflicting organizations.

The change in the by-laws will not be retroactive so far as the bartenders who are now members of the lodge. It will operate only against bartenders who may desire to join in the future. The liquor dealer knights are of the opinion, however, that the present bartender members will not long remain on the membership roll.

Agent Geary of the Bartenders' Union says that among the liquor men, in addition to the list published recently, who gave their bartenders a day off each week are Fisher, Hansen, Kruckel & Sperr, Lange, Morton, Beltrick, Carroll, Windmiller, Wesley, Becker & Kleso, Silva, Fitzpatrick, Herbert, Klingberg, Hooser.

TROUBLE OVER ORIENTALS.

From the present outlook it seems as if there will be trouble over the Oriental laborer in America. The unions are considering the problem of Japanese and Chinese labor as related to organized labor. At the last meeting of the Provision Trades Council the question was under consideration. Some urged that Chinese and Japanese engaged in certain industries should be organized and a charter be secured from the American Federation of Labor. Those in favor of the movement urged that competition among those interested in laundry and restaurant work would be cut down. The matter of color line was referred to but immediately set aside, because various unions, such as the barbers, have negro members.

On the other hand there is a faction opposed to any concession to the Oriental representative. Those opposed to the idea are in favor of a universal boycott. They would make a ruling that no union man or person doing business with organized labor should be allowed to trade in any way where Chinese or Japanese are hired. In this way it is hoped that the foreigners would be compelled to leave the country.

Pending the assumption of this attitude by the Trades' Unionists P. M. Oberlies, representing the Cooks and Waiters' Union, suggested to the Provision Trades Council that they recommend to the Central Labor Council action to a strict interpretation of the present laws restricting immigration and the passing of more laws that would effectively bar all aliens from the country who had not an education and a high standard of living.

Mr. Oberlies is considering a proposition to have the unions double their fines imposed on union men found eating in a Japanese or Chinese restaurant, expulsion from the union to follow a second offense. He will bring the question up for discussion at the next meeting held by the Cooks and Waiters.

SPECIAL MEETING.
There was a special meeting of the Building Trades' Council Saturday night for the purpose of comparing the schedule of the Japanese restaurant, expulsion from the union to follow a second offense. He will bring the question up for discussion at the next meeting held by the Cooks and Waiters.

A new schedule must be made with the employers, and the object of the comparison is to remain within the limits of the San Francisco agreement. The schedules are about the same and no material change will be made from the present schedule.

HALL FOR TEAMSTERS.
All the seven local branches of teamsters are to have a new hall to hold their meetings in. The new headquarters are to be on the second floor, No. 1055 Broadway. The building for the present will be fitted only for meeting purposes. Later the front rooms will be altered to make housing quarters for members of the union. The carpenters and painters have commenced work on the remodeling.

FARMER MAKES AN EXPERIMENT.

AUGUST HAGEMANN REAPS RICH HARVEST FROM BARLEY SAMPLE.

LIVERMORE, Jan. 25.—Livermore Valley, famous the world over for its superlative wines, is also destined in the not distant future to merit renown for the progressiveness of its agriculturists. The leading farmers have realized that the days of haphazard farming are at an end. That while the soil retained its virgin fertility and nature furnished copious rainfall and prices were high, such farming was fairly remunerative but the future prosperity of the farmer depends on up-to-date methods and scientific experimenting along the line of what seed is best suited to the general conditions, soil and climate, etc. Among the leaders in this line stands August Hagemann, who in conversation with a TRIBUNE representative discussed the result of his work in developing a new variety of barley which promises great things for the future of the cereal product of California. Mr. Hagemann said:

"In the last part of March, 1901, Mr. Fasset of the Livermore Warehouse Company showed me a five pound sample of Hanna or Moravian barley sent to him by Professor E. W. Hilgard, Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Berkeley, and asked me to plant the barley and note the results, as the United States Department of Agriculture had imported only a limited quantity and were very anxious to try it in the different soils of California. The barley had been imported from Kwaesitz Moravia at the suggestion of D. G. Fairchild, United States Agricultural explorer, and was as fine a sample of chequer barley as I ever saw. It being late in the season I planted it with a drill between the trees in a young orchard. It came up nicely and grew rapidly but rather too rank owing to the deep cultivation and richness of the soil. It being somewhat of a dry season the claim made by the Department that it would ripen quicker and resist the drought seemed to bear out very well. I harvested it and beat it out in a primitive way with a flail and cleaned it with a fanning mill. The yield from the original five pounds under these conditions after being passed twice through the flail and fanning mill was 150 pounds. With this in the following year I sowed about four and one-half acres of land, being a part of a large field and in uniform condition with the other land. The grain was planted in the field was sowed with the ordinary chequer barley and the whole field was ploughed in one piece and sown and harrowed in one day. During the winter the crop I expected that the Moravian barley grew more rapidly and was in heads fully two weeks before the ordinary chequer barley and later on I had to cut the ordinary chequer for hay on account of its shrunken condition caused by insufficient moisture and hot weather. Whereas I harvested Moravian barley on four and one-half acres and it yielded 8,000 pounds of grain weighing 53 pounds to the bushel. Last year I had enough seed to sow ninety acres from which the field was over one hundred tons of the fine barley as I ever saw. The claim that it will stand the drought and hot weather has been fully verified and I have planned 200 acres of it this season."

Mr. Hagemann exhibited a sample of the barley at the last State Fair at Sacramento and received the first prize in competition with all the other chequer barley on exhibition. A few days ago he received a letter from Mr. Fairchild on behalf of the Agricultural Department asking him if he would be willing to sell a small portion of next season's crop as the Department was anxious to experiment with it in other localities. Mr. Homer A. Craig, General Adjuster for the Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Company who is well known for his enthusiasm in agricultural experiments, visited Mr. Hagemann on Saturday and secured one thousand pounds of the barley which he is sending to the various agents of the company who are located in the grain growing sections of the State. He is sending a few pounds to each in order to test it on the different soils and climates. He will have it tested on the rich river bottom lands in the Sacramento and San Joaquin as well as on the light, sandy soil of Merced and Stanislaus counties and also on the dry soil of the west side of the San Joaquin Valley. His experiment will be watched with interest. It is claimed that it is a superior brewer's barley and malt's quicker than any other yet produced in the United States.

If it resists the drought in the light soils and produces a heavy crop in the richer river bottom lands it will mean millions to the grain grower of the State. Livermore Valley in the person of Mr. Hagemann will have further enhanced its reputation as the producer of superior cereals, although it took three years time and care to do it.

NEW PROCESS IN DENTISTRY.

INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION OF PORCELAIN FILLING BY DR. MERRITT.

Dr. C. Howard Merritt of the Central Bank Building gave a very interesting clinic to over a hundred of the leading dentists of San Francisco, Saturday on porcelain inlays. This method of filling teeth is new for some time in the East where it is used extensively among the best classes. It consists of preparing the cavity somewhat as is done for gold but requires less drilling of the tooth. After the cavity is prepared an impression is taken of same and is then removed from the tooth and the porcelain material, (the same that is used for artificial teeth) is packed into this impression and baked in a furnace. It requires several bakings and carving to get the desired shape and contour. When completed the porcelain is stripped off forcibly and is then ready to cement into the cavity of the tooth. If properly done it will be a perfect fit for the cavity, restoring the lost contour of tooth. If one-third or half of a tooth is decayed away, by this method it can be restored so as to look like a perfect one. This method is a great deal easier for the patient than a gold filling, and is more artistic and durable. Arrangements have been made for Dr. Merritt to give a series of lectures at the San Francisco Dental Society on February 8th.

KING'S COAST DEFENSE.

LONDON, January 23.—The British Cabinet met at noon today. The main business was the King's speech at the reassembling of Parliament, and the reassembling of Parliament, and the legislation program, with probably some reviewing of the Far Eastern situation, though the Foreign Office is without any further information on this subject.

A dispatch to the Central News from Tokyo says:

"An extraordinary issue of the Gazette has been published containing an imperial ordinance approving the various coast defense regulations and forbidding under stated penalties the navigation of private vessels, fishing within specified areas or the carrying out of marine work which might be inimical to Japan's naval interests."

"The decree is regarded as being fully significant."

The Kokumin Shinbun, in a warlike editorial, declares that the arrival of Russia's reply does not affect the situation. Confirming his dispatch of yesterday, saying that the Emperor Empress of China has decided, at all costs, to fight for the freedom of Manchuria from foreign control, the correspondent of the Globe at Shanghai says China has been given full reason to depend on the armed assistance of the powers for the maintenance of the integrity of the empire, quite irrespective of any action on the part of Japan.

TRIED TO BURN HERSELF.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 23.—Miss Lena Koon, a laundress, who is subject to epileptic fits, tried to commit suicide today in a peculiarly shocking manner.

JURY SECURED FOR SAM FISHER.

BERKELEY, January 23.—A jury has finally been secured in the case of Sam Fisher, the West Berkeley saloon-keeper who was arrested for disturbing the peace of the ladies in charge of a rummage sale in West Berkeley, after venues of jurymen to the number of 207 have been examined. The last two jurors chosen this morning are D. L. Shirik, a cattle raiser of 1739 Hearst avenue and J. M. McNulty, a coal dealer. A large number of witnesses have been summoned by the defense for Monday's trial. It is said that there will be a total of sixty-five. If all of these witnesses testify, the trial of the case may consume the greater part of next week.

The travelers remained a short time in China and also in Japan, and it is their purpose to be in Mecca on February 23d.

SUDDEN RUSH OF WATER.

ICE BREAKS AND SCHUYLKILL RIVER IS RUNNING HIGH.

PHILADELPHIA, January 23.—What promises to be the most disastrous flood this city has experienced since 1892 is now raging in the Schuylkill river. In one hour the water rose seven feet. This sudden rush was due to the breaking up of the ice and, as a consequence, sixteen big mills in Schuylkill, a suburb, were forced to shut down. Large cakes of ice are crashing against the mills, and it is feared several of the properties will be seriously damaged. There is a big ice gorge opposite the Penrod Iron Works at the water is rapidly backing up on this point.

In West Manayunk, River Road driveway is four feet under water and an Italian settlement in this section is also submerged. All of the occupants of the houses had to be removed by boats. Railroad tracks are under two to three feet of water, and twenty-seven piers along the east bank of the river, opposite Fairmount Park, have been washed away.

The schooner was totally wrecked. The life-saving crew made repeated attempts, but were unable to launch their lifeboat while through the fog could be heard the cries of the men on board calling for help. The sea was tremendous.

MRS. MARIA JONES IS GUILTY.

SONORA, Cal., January 23.—At 3 o'clock this morning, after being out ten hours, the jury in the case of Mrs. Marie Jones, charged with killing her husband, reached a verdict of manslaughter and recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court.

LEAVES LIFE OF SOUL-SAVER.

NEOPHYTE ABANDON; SALVATION THEOLOGY FOR FAIR YOUNG WIDOW.

There was a quiet little marriage a short time since in Salvation Army circles, which was witnessed by a number of members of that organization of soul-savers in red and blue jackets and trousers and poke-bonnets, not a dignity of the organization presided at the function.

This evening lack of courage was due to the fact that the groom, John Halvorsen, who had been a cadet in the training headquarters of the Salvation Army, had decided to leave the organization and finally accepted the young neophyte as his partner for life.

Love-making in the training headquarters of the Salvation Army is a serious infringement of the rules. The thoughts of the cadets are supposed to be centered on the training mission, and not on love-making and the better life. The widow was not only fair of feature but also endowed with worldly goods. Work in the training mission stopped and Halvorsen returned to the prosaic life of a layman. He is still, however, a member of the corps as is his bride and life, it seems, is none the less pleasant because both are basking in the sunshine of love and a cosy home instead of the gloom of a club woman in the slums of the town.

LOS ANGELES, January 23.—Police Detectives Rawley, Murphy and Cowen, held on a charge of manslaughter for the killing of Joseph and Louis Chissois, father and son, at the Hotel Broxburn, this city, on the night of December 17th, were today ordered released by Justice Chambers. The preliminary hearing, which has occupied two weeks and closed Thursday, Justice Chambers held in the case of the reserve until today, when he completely exonerated the men for the killing. Joseph Chissois was wanted in Equality, Ill., on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, and the local police were ordered by telegram to make the arrest. The three detectives detailed on the case found the men in their rooms at the hotel, where they resisted arrest and were both shot and instantly killed by the officers. An attempt was made to hold the detectives for the shooting on the ground of insufficient warrant for arrest.

CRAP SHOOTERS ARE DISCHARGED.

Roy Richie and Frank Silva, two youths who were arrested yesterday afternoon in the University grounds at Berkeley for shooting craps, were liberated today by District Attorney Allen, who gave it as his opinion that there was not sufficient evidence against the boys to convict them.

Richie had about $125 and Silva about $75. They were charged with the use of a revolver in the game, but when they made their advance upon them they scattered and ran and but two of them were captured. Both denied that they were playing in the game, and there was nothing but the word of the officers that such was the case. They were unable to get bail and were forced to spend the night in jail and this, it was believed, was sufficient to give them a lesson.

GOVERNING AUTOMOBILES WAS NOT HERO

Maximum Speed of Twenty Miles Per Hour, Greatly Reduced When Meeting Vehicles.

At the meeting of the Supervisors this morning the ordinance governing the running of automobiles in this county was amended in sections 3 and 4, and, as amended, were passed to print. It will go into effect fifteen days from date. The present ordinance limits the speed of automobiles to fifteen miles an hour. Under the new rule a speed of twenty miles an hour may be attained and maintained, subject to certain restrictions.

IDENTIFICATION.

When the subject was introduced, Supervisor Rowe said the ordinance made no provision for the numbering or marking the automobiles, that they might be identified on the road.

G. W. Arper, of the Joint Committee of the Alameda County Automobile Club and the Merchants' Exchange said the committee had considered that subject and had concluded that every county line, Alameda county could only require a special number or a letter for itself. If the other counties passed similar ordinances, there would be such numbers or designations.

Supervisor Horner said that the matter should be under the supervision of the State.

Supervisor Rowe said that if a letter were used, "A 1" or "A 2," etc., could represent Alameda county, and the letters "S. F. 1," "S. F. 2," could represent San Francisco. He wouldn't make it so burdensome as Mr. Arper had suggested.

MARKS OF OTHER COUNTIES.

Dr. Chamberlain of the Alameda County Automobile Club said that the plan would work well for the identification of Alameda county machines, but not for outside machines. He said that the plan would not do all the harm and to enable them to be identified would require all the other counties to insist on special marks being used. Besides, a man could leave off the number and thus escape identification. He said that the plan was a regulation of the matter.

Supervisor Horner asked if the automobile wanted to hold the middle of the road at a twenty-mile gait.

He was informed by Dr. Chamberlain that on a signal being given by men driving or leading domestic animals, the speed could be reduced.

MUST TURN TO THE RIGHT.

Mr. Horner thought the automobilists should turn to the right when meeting another vehicle.

Dr. Chamberlain thought that was a matter of State law.

Supervisor Kelley suggested that the ordinance be referred to the District Attorney for the proposed amendment.

Supervisor Horner said that, with such an amendment, he would have no objection to the ordinance.

NEW FEATURES.

The Joint Committee said they would have no objection to the proposed amendment. The Horner suggestion was then incorporated and the sections Nos. 3 and 4, as amended, read as follows:

"Every person driving an automobile or other motor vehicle upon any public highway within the limits of this county at a greater rate of speed than 20 miles per hour:

COLONEL PIPPY—A TRIBUTE.

DR. MILLS AND THE DEVIL.

In the stress of giving divided attention to so many matters in the way of watching the war clouds in the Orient, keeping an eye on Congress, observing the movements of the Colombian army, reading the speeches of Bryan and the prophecies of Dowle, and noting the antics of Mayor Schmitz, we neglected to give due consideration to the re-election of Colonel George Hannibal Pippy to the presidency of the Union League Club of San Francisco. We regret the oversight. Such an event is not lightly to be passed over. Colonel Pippy is not a man to be ignored. His merits are not to be obscured nor his whiskers hidden under any number of bushels.

Colonel Pippy is a man of parts; a man of valor; a man of beauty; a man of hirsute distinction. His whiskers are magnificent; they are prodigious; they part in the middle. They excite wonder; they inspire admiration; they provoke envy. They are the pride of the Union League Club, the glory of the National Guard, they are a striking testimony to assiduous cultivation. When a stranger beholds Colonel Pippy for the first time, his first question is, "Who is he?" and the next, "Who is his barber?" In such way does true distinction impress itself.

Colonel Pippy also possesses mustachios. They are waxed, combed and curled. They are richly perfumed. They are twisted fiercely at the ends. They are even more impressive than the Colonel's English riding boots. They beat the boots and the English hunting crop put together. But all three are mere minor details in a martial ensemble compared to the whiskers—they defy competition. Colonel Pippy's mustachios are beloved of their ferocity however by a benignant countenance, a mild eye and a hand that is gladness itself. A gentle voice robs them of their threatening aspect.

As becomes the Achilles, Adonis and Talleyrand of an organization composed of men ready to fight, drink or hold office in the service of their country, Colonel Pippy is a man of military tastes and genius. He learned the art of war driving a milk wagon, and the strategy of politics while studying the manual of arms in the County Clerk's office. He has mastered the difficult feats of sitting a livery horse like a centaur and walking without getting his sword between his legs. Clad in resplendent uniform with brass buttons all down before, his whiskers freshly combed and his mustachios curled, he is very beautiful ideal of valor in war, sagacity in politics and prosperity in the milk trade. His versatility is illustrated in many ways. He handles his milk like a sword and his sword like a milk can. He is equally terrible with both.

But Colonel Pippy is modest and courteous personified. He never forgets the sources of his greatness. He never passes a hydrant without giving the military salute, and he never encounters a mirror without giving a courtly bow to the man who made him. 'Tis thus that true worth and nobleness set an example to be followed by the rising generation. While Colonel Pippy wears the trappings of the warrior and possesses all the martial attributes of the Cid, he loves the arts and recreations of peace. He likes to lead his serried battalions over the line of his milk route. It pleases his customers and advertises his business. But he is perhaps seen at his best in a red coat and mounted on a bob-tailed nag, chasing a paper fox in the wilds of Marin or San Mateo counties. Then as a model of manly beauty he almost excels his martial appearance on dress parade.

It is a profound grief that a man so distinguished for his military ardor, for his many virtues, for pulchritude, for the size and beauty of his whiskers must pass away like creatures of commoner clay and smaller hirsute adornment; but death is no respecter of persons. When Colonel Pippy, in the sad years to come, shall answer the last roll call, we can only bury him with the honors due a hero and bedow his tomb with weeping tears. In future time posterity will lift its hat and wipe its eye every time it passes a monument 300 feet high, surmounted by a sword and a milk can and inscribed: "Sacred to the memory of Colonel George Hannibal Pippy; in peace, a man of war; in war, a man of peace."

Senator Bailey of Texas says he will resign before he will vote to ratify the Panama Canal Treaty. We have heard no objection to his resigning.

Postmaster General Payne recommends the establishment of postal savings banks in Porto Rico. He says the banking facilities on the island at present are very limited, and that there is practically no safe way open for the people to take care of their savings. Under the Spanish rule the people had no savings to take care of. The Postmaster General suggests that Congress authorize the Porto Rican postoffice to receive deposits to a limited amount and that the Government pay two per cent interest thereon. The suggestion appears to be a good one.

Rev. Benjamin Fay Mills says the devil is dead, but that his works survive him. Shakespeare says the evil men do lives after them; and that the good is oft interred with their bones. According to Mr. Mills, this is true of the devil with respect to his evil living after Satan has died.

But in justice to Mr. Mills it should be stated that when he says the devil is dead, he means the idea of the evil principle being embodied in an active intelligent agent has passed away, but that the evil the devil typified to the cruder minds of past generations remains. He might have gone further and doubted whether mankind is able to distinguish good from evil in the abstract. As things are, we see good things and bad things, but whether the phenomena are due to the working of contrary principles is a matter of the gravest doubt.

We call droughts and floods, tempests and earthquakes evils, but science teaches us that they are but variations of the universal law which governs the meteorology of the planet, the law that brings us sunshine and rain and harvest and the fruitage of orchard and vineyard.

Possibly what is currently deemed to be evil in the moral nature of man as exemplified in his conduct may be manifestations of the same universal law that produces good; that instead of good and evil being separate and opposing principles, they are but variants in the application of one and the same law or principle.

If the devil ever existed he was the creature, instrument and servant of the Creator; if there is an evil principle in the world forever opposing and baffling the good, it is the product and gift to man of the Almighty.

Oh thou, who of baser earth didst make, And e'en with Paradise didst devise the snake, Sang old Omar. So Doctor Mills cannot be too sure about the devil being dead or his works still existing. There is a suspicion that the snake Omar Khayyam found in Paradise lurked in the wine cup, but if the Creator planted evil as well as good in the moral nature of His children we must believe that He did so for a good purpose. His intentions were honorable. But as yet we do not know what we are here for and are not always competent to judge of the quality or the purpose of divine workmanship. We have learned from physiology that pain and pleasure are common results of the same natural conditions; the palate is tickled or offended by the character of what it touches. Mental pain and pleasure are intellectual demonstrations of the same process. As man becomes more enlightened he disciplines himself with respect to enjoying that which is pleasant and bearing that which is unpleasant. May not the same evolutionary process be working to discipline man with respect to what we differentiate as good and evil?

It is surprising how quickly an error can gain credence and be given circulation. For instance, the Colusa Sun, which usually aims to be correct in its statements of fact, says: "The Supreme Court of the United States on Monday decided that the counties of California had a right to fix water rates for all canal companies selling water to the public. The Circuit Court had decided otherwise and the decision was reversed."

The Circuit Court did not hold otherwise. In his Stanislaus decision Judge Morrow distinctly affirmed the right of the Supervisors to fix water rates, but he declared the rate ordinance void on the ground that it did not provide adequate compensation to the sellers of the water. He has reversed, therefore, on a question of fact, not of law, the action being a suit in equity in which the courts must find upon both law and fact.

"The afternoon paper is the paper of the future," says a contemporary. It is the paper of the present. It prints the news of events the day they occur, not after it has laid in cold storage over night. No matter what happens in the world, the evening paper reaches the public first with the tidings nine times out of ten. It is the quick messenger from the firing line of life's conflict. The morning paper is the slower courier bearing formal dispatches; it comes with details, but the evening paper has already given the general news of what has happened.

Mark Hanna is not a candidate for President, and only desires to name the Ohio delegation to the National Convention. Senator Foraker knows what that means, and you can bet your buckeye there's going to be a hot time on the Scioto in the spring.

President Roosevelt evidently does not subscribe to Horace Walpole's definition of a gentleman. That pleasant old cynic described a gentleman as one who would defend a lady against everybody but himself. That is the standard, apparently adopted by Lieutenant Hector A. Robichon, but the President has endorsed his conduct as unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

When Mr. Bryan says "a dark horse" may be nominated at St. Louis, does he refer to color, character or degree of notoriety? However, all Democrats look alike to the country this year.

Among our exchanges we find a marked copy of a special number the Santa Rosa Press Democrat. It is a star number filled with well written matter and beautiful illustrations descriptive of Sonoma county, and we at first intended to say so but remembering that the Press Democrat omitted to say something nice about our holiday special we hereby decline to extend compliments.

WOMEN AND ATHLETICS.

Women students have been making athletic records of late. Lydia Carpenter of the State Normal School, Plattsburg, N. Y., has raised the record for the running high jump to 4 feet 3 and 3-10 inches. Helen Wood of Vassar has jumped 14 feet 6 1/2 inches in the running broad jump. Fannie James, Vassar, has made the 100-yard dash in 13 1-5 seconds. Daisy Carpenter, Northwestern University, has put the eighteen-pound shot 18 feet 6 inches.

The making of these records has moved President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard to come out strong in print against the more violent sports for women.

In brief, Dr. Eliot says women should not put the shot, nor play football, nor indulge in printing, or hurdling, or jumping. Rowing, as practiced in women's colleges, he does not condemn. Basket ball, in his opinion, is not a bad form of sport, when played by mature women of sturdy physique in moderation and under careful supervision.

Dr. Eliot's objection is founded upon the assumption that women are not built physically for most of these forms of sport. For instance, he does not consider it womanly for women to put the shot. As to sprinting, hurdling and jumping he says: "Womanly legs were never intended by nature to be adept at either, and the less she attempts to improve upon nature the better for her future health."

Dr. Eliot is especially opposed to championship contests, even in basket ball, for the reason that the players are apt to be carried away by excitement and overdo themselves and inflict injury upon their opponents. The competitive phase he regards as the one most to be avoided in sports for women. Play that might not be considered too rough in a woman's net becomes very dangerous when the contestants are women.

Dr. Eliot expresses the sentiments of many who have the interests of women's athletics deeply at heart. And none are more interested in this question than the authorities of the women's colleges, where the "new athletics" are making much headway.

The platform of the "new athletics" is thus set forth by Lucille Eaton Hill, director of physical training in Wellesley college: "First—pneumonia—no body and mind the modern and governing principle. Second—pneumonia. That all associated efforts must secure the greatest good to the greatest number. Third—pneumonia. That competition in organized athletics is a desirable thing, but the authorities of the first two planks of this platform.

This platform is ideal. Moderation and womanly reserve are two necessities. As to competition, it is necessary in moderation to bring out the athletic as well as the physical value of athletes, that the young woman may develop her character as she expands her muscles.

FIVE TRIBES IN WAR DANCE.

(Lawton, Okla., Telegram to the Kansas City Times.)

The big powwow of Wichita's Apaches, Comanches, Pawnees and Kiaws held last night at the residence of the late Parker's residence in the mountains near Cache. There is some trouble in carrying out this program, as the natives are out of the reservation for the last day of the moon, which was last Saturday, and they came then.

This celebration is held but once in ten years. The Indians are dressed in war colors and paint. They go through all the ceremonies of hundreds of visitors from the Territory are on hand. Chief Geronimo, of the Apaches, was present today, but he is unable to get to the reservation for religious reasons. He is a prisoner of war. It is expected that a new chief for the Comanches will be appointed at this time.

PROGRESS.

(J. Oppenheim in Youth's Companion.)

That we all are here through struggle, through the fruit of our fathers' work, that we are all here through the work of the course still to be run, the end is the same, and the end is the same.

Systems still are blown to atoms and the earth will meet its doom. In the eye of all the heavens, man is ever in his tomb.

But we see the smallest blossom still outbursting into bloom.

Just alone that man is noble just alone that he shall live. Just alone that man is noble just alone that he shall live.

Is a more imperious problem than the end of all the earth.

Human progress still points peaceward and still further from the brute.

Let the end be hidden from us, let eternal life be mute.

I will struggle on and upward as the flower from the root.

FIVE-CENT FARE TO ELMHURST.

STONE BROTHERS SAY IT WILL COME IN ONE WAY OR ANOTHER.

"There will be a five-cent fare between Oakland and Elmhurst," said E. B. and A. L. Stone almost in unison this morning. "If it is not allowed by the Oakland Transit Company, it will come from another source. The automobile to which THE TRIBUNE made reference is not to be used as a pressure upon the Oakland Transit Company. We have long sought to have a five-cent fare established between this city and Oakland by means of the Oakland Transit Consolidated, but we have not yet succeeded. We don't know that we shall be successful. Our last effort in this direction was made, perhaps, about six months ago. We wrote the company on the subject. Not the answer was not encouraging. In fact, we got no answer at all. One letter from the company was received recently bought 700 acres at Elmhurst has been stated. Our land has been acquired in various ways, and we are dividing it into building lots. This is hardly any reason why a five-cent fare should not be allowed to Elmhurst as well as to Berkeley. It is a level road to Elmhurst, and it costs about twice as much to haul a car to Berkeley as it does to Elmhurst. But the five-cent fare is sure to come, one way or another."

The following marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk today: Raymond J. Machen, San Francisco 20; Agnes Macauley, Chicago. 26; John Kelly, San Francisco. 29; Marie Uhl, Fruitvale. 23.

One of the most extreme styles among styles that are notoriously extreme is the lambrquin coat. It is to be had in very many sorts of fabrics, especially in broad-cloth, either black or the pastel tints. Designed for carriage and evening wear, this coat is naturally baggy, and what is known as the three-quarter length. So far so good. The lambrquin part of it comes in with the trimming, which is of lace the same shade as the coat. This lace may be of rich cluny, guilure or any other splendidly heavy and silky lace. Such a lace is usually in the shape of an all-over applique, and evening wear, this coat is carried straight across the back, the lower edge falling below the waistline. Over the sleeve top it is caught in a deep loop (say a yard of lace, making a half-yard loop) and from thence it comes around over the front, the ends being finished with cord and tassel arrangements, or left hanging in long stole effect, according to the length of the lambrquin-like strip of lace, which forms this unique and imposing decoration.

"Four additional rooms are needed on the Whittier lot as there are now two full classes from North Berkeley that are compelled to attend the Allison Way School. The Rose street building and lot should be disposed of and the classes should be transferred to the Whittier. An additional lot should be bought somewhere in the vicinity of Rose street and Sacramento, so that the people living in Peralta Park may have a school of their own when needed. A large lot in the northeast corner should be obtained as soon as possible, that it may be ready for a building whenever the building is needed.
